

Managing Director, European Operations

Global specialty steel service center and metals trading organization offers an opportunity for an entrepreneurial individual to lead the European subsidiary of a US company. This position implies independent commercial and operational responsibility reporting directly to the US-based president and CEO. Primary locations are Paris and Dusseldorf. Responsibility for both maintaining current business and growing new business. We offer a competitive salary and highly attractive incentive bonus package. The ideal candidate possesses the following qualifications:

- Self-starter and business creator, with strong steel/metals trading background
- Experience managing personnel, manufacturing and supply chains
- Excellent language skills (Fluent English essential, French and/or German preferred)

If you are ambitious to build your career with us, please e-mail your CV and salary details to mdeurope2010@gmail.com.